With the summer weather in full swing, things have been busy at Able. We've got lots of exciting news for you, so let's get right into it!

Try Rinnai Rebate

It's been a busy year for Rinnai. Last month, we let you know that Rinnai is giving contractors a $150 rebate for every Demand Duo that you buy before July 31st. Then, earlier this month, we introduced you to the SENSEI tankless water heater.

Now, they're bringing the two together with the Try Rinnai Rebate program. That's right, every residential SENSEI model that you purchase between now and December 31st, 2018 gets you a $100 Visa gift card. You can get all the details at www.tryrinnairebate.com or by checking out the flyer linked below.

Upcoming tekmar Training

Bornquist Inc. and tekmar are teaming up to bring tekmar training to Chicagoland next week.

This training will serve as an introduction to the features and benefits of tekmar's Wi-Fi thermostats (Invita, 561, 562, 563). It will also cover how easy it is to set up a zoned system using tekmar zone valves and thermostats with a focus on retrofits.

A New Bosch + Unico Combination

About a month ago, we shared the exciting news that Bosch's 5-ton inverter-driven split heat pump had been issued a certificate of product rating by the AHRI. Well, the news gets better! Now, the 3-ton model is also officially AHRI-rated as well as DOE-compliant.

You can download the new AHRI certificate and updated DOE compliance statement below.
